

For over thirty-five years, Clifton Gardiner & Company has represented Sellers and Buyers of radio stations and other media property assets, including radio and television stations, cable television and new media. We have completed over 350 asset sale transactions, working closely with our clients to insure a smooth, efficient and trouble-free process.

If you are selling a radio station, the process starts with a detailed valuation, and with the preparation of an accurate and complete Information Memorandum. CGCO has long been known for the high quality and comprehensive Information Memorandums that it prepares for every client. A valuation can be prepared as a stand-alone project, so that our client can make an “enlightened” decision on selling and determining the asking price. We have developed a relationship over many years with broadcasters and media owners across the USA. They have come to trust our work and they take our phone calls.
